QUARTERLY
WINTER 2008

ADVOCATING FOR THE PRESERVATION OF PLACES AND STRUCTURES WITH HISTORIC OR CULTURAL SIGNIFICANCE.

Welcome to our redesigned newsletter, in full color! We hope you'll enjoy reading about the latest KH news and events with color photos and other highlights. Color helps us tell the important stories of historic preservation and illustrates the wonderful properties and places throughout our community. Special thanks to Jim Peterson of Scripps Networks (our 2007 Volunteer of the Year) for his expert design services. Jim, you make us look great!

Letter from the President

Dear Knox Heritage members and friends,
What a memorable year! The Board of Directors of Knox Heritage would like to take this opportunity to present an "Annual Report" on the many wonderful accomplishments in 2007.

Our crowning achievement was the restoration of two century-old houses designed by George Barber on Washington Avenue. In partnership with the National Trust for Historic Preservation and with generous support from local businesses and individuals, we transformed these houses at the entrance of the Parkridge neighborhood and welcomed two families into new homes in time for the holidays.

We could not have completed this project without the generous support of our many friends and the hard work of the Knox Heritage staff, particularly executive Director Kim Trent. The total cost was nearly $550,000. We received $155,000 in cash donations and nearly $100,000 in donated materials and services. Please take a moment to review the list of our Restore America Partners on pg 4 of this newsletter.

Knox Heritage was also deeply involved with the new Regal Riviera Cinema on Gay Street which opened in August 2007. We worked with Knoxville Mayor Bill Haslam, Knoxville City Council, and Regal Entertainment Group to modify the originally-proposed design in order to preserve most of the historic buildings on the 500 Block of Gay Street. Another collaboration with the National Trust helped bring an investment of nearly $2 Million in New Markets Tax Credits for this family entertainment destination.

In April 2007 Knox Heritage hosted the National Trust's Statewide & Local Partners' Spring Retreat. Representatives from 40 preservation organizations from 27 states, along with a record-setting six vice presidents from the Trust, were amazed by how much they enjoyed being in Knoxville. Many said that ours was the best Partners' Retreat ever.

Knox Heritage is known for its special events, especially the perennially popular Summer Suppers, where we entertained over 600 guests on 12 unique and memorable evenings from June to September. Co-chaired by Barbara Apking and Ellen Bebb, the 2007 Summer Suppers raised nearly $50,000.

This year also brought a new event, Weekend in the Attic, an auction and appraisal event paying tribute to our region's fine arts, culture, and leisure activities. Knox Heritage board member Lorie Huff and her committee worked very hard to ensure success for this fundraiser, which garnered over $25,000 in one weekend.

Watch for announcements about Summer Suppers, Weekend in the Attic, and many other festive events during 2008! We hope to see you out having a good time.

Some of our most important efforts are those of advocacy for historic preservation such as monitoring the sites listed on our "Fragile Fifteen." Every year during National Preservation Month, Knox Heritage announces this list of the most endangered historic buildings and places in order to educate the public and local leaders about the plight of significant historic resources. Knox Heritage is committed to acting as an advocate for the endangered properties we identify each year. We invite the community to join us in our efforts to save our endangered heritage through advocacy and action. For updates on the 2007 Fragile Fifteen, see pg 4 of this newsletter.

As we plan for the future, we look to assist nearby communities in their preservation efforts. Knox Heritage has been invited to apply for a National Trust Partners in the Field (PIF) grant. If awarded, the PIF grant will allow us to reach out to the surrounding eight counties and help them establish services and develop tools for historic preservation that will be utilized by their own organizations.

Everything Knox Heritage does is a challenge. Experience has taught us that the greater the challenge, the greater the reward. We are working overtime to protect and enhance the wonderful old places in our community that define our history and character.

We want you – our valued members and friends – to share in the joy and excitement for all we do. Without your help and generous support, nothing could have been done at all.

Sincerely yours,

Dorothy Stair
President, Knox Heritage Board of Directors

KH Establishes Endowment Fund at East Tennessee Foundation

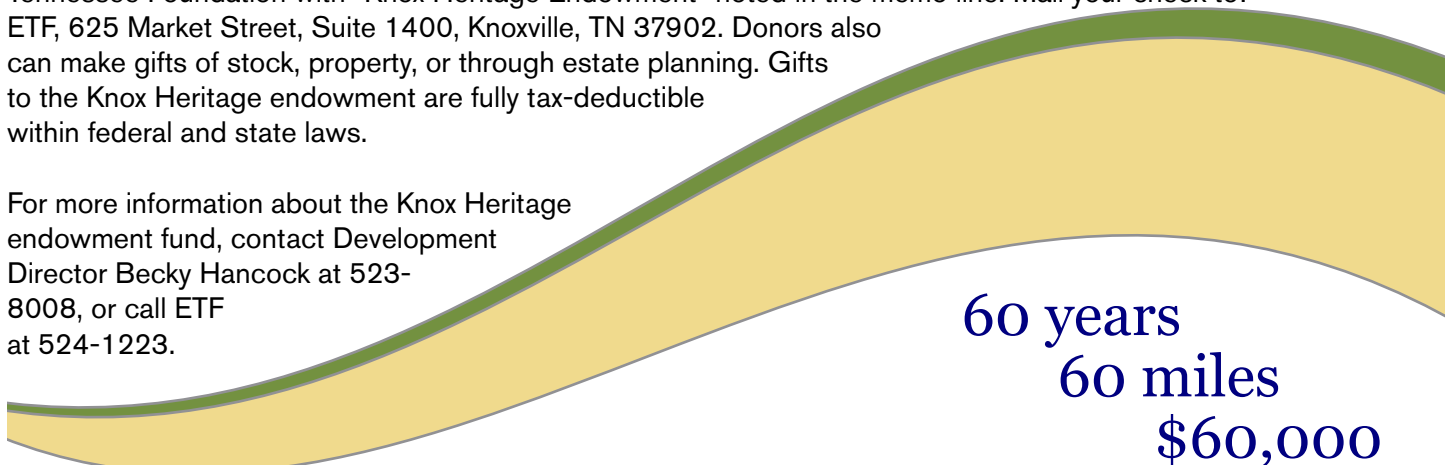

Fundraising is an ongoing endeavor for any nonprofit, and Knox Heritage has received countless generous donations since its inception in 1974. As Knox Heritage grows and furthers its mission in our community, we seek to find new ways to generate support and secure the future of our organization.

Starting in 2008, donors can give directly to an endowment fund established for Knox Heritage at the East Tennessee Foundation. An endowment is comprised of gifts and bequests with the requirement that they be invested while the principal remains intact. A percentage of the income growth is available to the designated nonprofit. This allows for the donations to have a much greater impact over a long period of time than if they were spent all at once.

East Tennessee Foundation (ETF), founded in 1986, is a public, nonprofit, community foundation created for the purpose of building charitable resources to make communities stronger and lives better through thoughtful giving. ETF serves 25 counties in East Tennessee. For more information, visit www.easttennesseefoundation.org.

Those interested in donating to the Knox Heritage endowment fund can send a check made payable to East Tennessee Foundation with "Knox Heritage Endowment" noted in the memo line. Mail your check to: ETF, 625 Market Street, Suite 1400, Knoxville, TN 37902. Donors also can make gifts of stock, property, or through estate planning. Gifts to the Knox Heritage endowment are fully tax-deductible within federal and state laws.

For more information about the Knox Heritage endowment fund, contact Development Director Becky Hancock at 523-8008, or call ETF at 524-1223.

60 years
60 miles
$60,000

Dan Holbrook is not your ordinary runner. Most of us think a 5K or 10K run an admirable accomplishment, and those who run 26.2-mile marathons are considered high-achievers with incredible stamina by most onlookers.

Knoxville's Dan Holbrook sets his sights a little higher (or farther, if you will). He has run 50-mile races in Maryland and Seattle, WA; 50K races in Alabama, Oak Ridge, and Chattanooga; and a 23-mile trip around the rim of the Grand Canyon. He has qualified for the ultimate endurance run, the Western States 100-mile, on June 28, 2008.

To celebrate his 60th birthday on February 10th, he will run 60 miles on UT's Tom Black Track. He invites us all to cheer him on from the bleachers, or even join him for a few laps.

Dan Holbrook running for charities.

But Dan wants to commemorate this feat in another way: he aims to raise $60,000 for three charities. One of these beneficiaries is Knox Heritage, and we couldn't be prouder of our friend for his generous and invigorating spirit.

To help Dan reach his monetary goal, you can send a donation to Knox Heritage with "60 @ 60" written in the memo line. Your contribution is fully tax-deductible, and Dan will get a list of names and the total amount contributed to Knox Heritage in honor of this accomplishment.

Learn more about Dan's running odyssey at his website www.60at60.net. Thank you, Dan, for your example of healthy living, impressive dedication, and remarkable philanthropy!

FRAGILE FIFTEEN

Here is the latest news about some of our most endangered properties and places in Knoxville and Knox County.

McCLUNG WAREHOUSES, JACKSON AVENUE

February 7 marks the one-year anniversary of the enormous fire that engulfed several of these warehouses. The owner has a deadline of February 13 to submit a revised development plan to KCDC.

VACANT KNOX COUNTY SCHOOL BUILDINGS

South High: another potential developer has been identified and preliminary discussions are underway.
Oakwood: A task force has been formed to identify potential uses for the structure as well as securing alternative space for uses currently housed here.
Brownlow: A recent auction sold several condominium units and the developers are proceeding with the project.

26 MARKET SQUARE

The owner has replaced the roof and windows, getting the building "in the dry." Work continues on renovations.

WALKER-SHERRILL HOUSE

The 104-acre tract was sold to an Atlanta developer, which is lining up a new partner and renegotiating with commercial developers. Thankfully, the recent H-1 designation has helped preserve this house and its immediate surrounding land, protecting it from potentially insensitive commercial use.

MINVILLA

The owner is waiting on approval from the National Park Service in Washington DC, which is forthcoming. This is necessary because Historic Preservation Tax Credits are being incorporated into the financing of the project.

COLONEL JOHN WILLIAMS HOUSE

The owner has plans for stabilizing the house and is construction is imminent.

J.C. PENNEY BUILDING

The owner has had several retail inquiries and is investigating various options for multi-use development.

UT'S CAMPUS HERITAGE PROJECT IN FINAL STAGES

In June 2006 the University of Tennessee was awarded $150,000 from the Getty Foundation to conduct an in-depth study of historic buildings and to help set priorities and develop recommendations for preservation policies on the UT-Knoxville campus. The comprehensive inventory of historic structures is complete, and the UT Campus Heritage Project's final report will be issued to the Getty Foundation in May of this year, according to Tim Ezzell, director of UT's Community Partnership Center.

Based in Los Angeles, the Getty Foundation funds a diverse range of projects that promote the understanding and conservation of the visual arts. The Getty's Campus Heritage Grant assists colleges and universities in the United States to plan for the preservation of their significant historic buildings, sites, and landscapes. The Campus Heritage grant is a special 6-year initiative which began in 2002. UT was one of thirteen recipients of this funding in 2006, a list which also included LSU, Tuskegee University, New York University, and the U.S. Naval Academy.

The UT Campus Heritage Project was conducted in partnership with the Center for Historic Preservation at MTSU and Dr. Carroll Van West. The surveys identified at least a dozen structures that are potentially eligible for listing on the National Register of Historic Places, including Tyson Hall and Hopecote on Melrose Avenue; The Hill and many of its buildings; Cowan Cottage, located in Fort Sanders; and River Road and Morgan Circle on the UT Institute of Agriculture Campus. Currently, UT-Knoxville has no structures named on the National Register.

Hopecote, 1820 Melrose Avenue

In addition to completing the inventory and related reports, Dr. Ezzell is interested in identifying successful historic preservation practices at other colleges and universities, particularly other Getty grant awardees. He believes these practices can help attract top students and faculty to UT, which can aid the university in its goal of becoming a top-ten public research institution.

When asked about the reaction to the project from the community, Dr. Ezzell said, "the response has been mostly positive. The students and faculty have been very supportive. This [preservation initiative] has been a long time coming, and there's a recognition of that on campus. We know how this has hurt our image in the community, and we need to be a better neighbor and work more cooperatively with the City, Knox Heritage, and other stakeholders."

Tyson Alumni Center, 1609 Melrose Ave.

The first of several public workshops was held the last week of January. The next public workshop will be on Thursday, April 17, from 6:30 – 8:30 pm, in the Shiloh Room of the Carolyn P. Brown University Center. All are invited to attend. For more information about the UT Campus Heritage Project, contact Tim Ezzell at tezell@utk.edu.
